

Plenary: Welcome To The Summit

Plenary: Opening International Keynote

Drawing on IGCC's exceptional international networks, we will open the Summit with a global perspective.

Plenary: The Asian Market Keynote

From a region with the greatest potential to leapfrog global investors, a climate leader will provide their insights.

Plenary: Future proofing investment The latest IPCC climate science

This session will hear from one of Australia's senior climate scientists and Vice Chair of Working Group II with an update on findings relating to climate change impacts, adaptation and vulnerability. A crucial foundation for the discussions to come.

Plenary: The C-Suite Panel Discussion

Investor Action on Climate Change

Institutional investors are under more scrutiny regarding their role on climate change and more actively engaged than ever. Hear from the leaders of some of the region's biggest funds on how they are navigating the risks and opportunities of climate change.

IGCC Focus: Directors' Duties And Board Capabilities

The ultimate responsibility for transitioning companies to net zero falls on the shoulders of Board Directors. Join our panel of insiders laying out the skills, capabilities and experiences that investors expect Board Directors will need to protect their companies.

AIGCC Focus: The Asian C-Suite Discussion

Net Zero implementation and implications

This session will bring together asset owners from Asia and internationally in a forum of peer to peer sharing of knowledge and information.

IGCC Focus: Climate Litigation In Focus

The early months of 2022 have seen dramatic decisions and developments in climate litigation, with more cases underway. This is a topic that has risen to boardroom attention throughout Australia and around the world. We expect a very strong audience for this expert panel.

AIGCC Focus: Physical Risk

Physical risk is a relatively new area for many Asian investors but data availability and high exposure are foregrounding it fast. This session will draw on AIGCC's recent research into the physical risks toolkits available to Asian investors, providing practical lessons and interpretations.

Day 1

Plenary: Reception & Gala Dinner

This program is subject to change as we announce additional speakers and respond to a fast-moving climate investment landscape.

Breakfast: The Women Leading Climate Investment

Women bring a unique perspective to sustainability and finance. Hear from female leaders in Australia as we discuss the climate change investing landscape and opportunities.

Plenary: Day 2 Opening Keynote

A shifting regulatory and policy landscape

Hot on the heels of the Australian Federal Election, this will be an opportunity to examine the policies and regulations investors might expect to see over the next term of government.

Plenary: Trustee Training On Climate

Mock Board Meeting - The Perfect Storm Pension Fund

In the fifth in our well-loved series of trustee training sessions the board of the Perfect Storm Pension Fund will consider challenges in implementing net zero.

IGCC Focus: Just Transition

Communities, policy-makers and investors' beneficiaries are increasingly asking how climate policies and roadmaps can protect the people and towns that rely on existing industries. This panel will draw on IGCC's recent in-depth report Empowering Communities: How investors can support an equitable transition, and review the outlook for the coming decade.

IGCC Focus: Oil, Gas & Hydrogen

Pathways for oil and gas continue to be a topic of significant focus for investors, particularly in light of the IEA Net Zero scenario and new opportunities for oil and companies to become producers of hydrogen. Hear from key sector analysts from the Australian and US markets on these hotly debated issues.

AIGCC Focus: Investor Climate Action Plans

The ICAPs Expectations Ladder helps investors in all stages of climate change journey act through a single, comprehensive framework which draws on existing initiatives and guidance. Join our panel in exploring the action that they have taken across investment, corporate engagement, policy advocacy and investor disclosure

Combined Focus: Investing in Natural Climate Solutions and the Circular Economy

With growing interest and momentum in new climate-aligned investment solutions, this session will focus on the innovative technologies and opportunities for investors in utilising natural climate solutions and circular economy.

IGCC Focus:

Transparency & Disclosure

Covering the rapid regulatory developments in mandatory climate risk disclosure in Australia and NZ, a rapidly evolving global landscape, the need for transparency, consistency and comparability of disclosures, current gaps, and next steps for governments and regulators.

IGCC Focus:

Transitioning Your Portfolio

With strong momentum towards net zero globally, investors need interim targets and metrics that are fit for purpose in order to reach longer term goals and climate action plans. Hear from investors on how they transitioned their portfolio, and the tools and frameworks which supported them in the process.

Plenary:

Lessons From Climate Action 100+

The Engagements on Companies' Net Zero Transition Plans

Climate transition plans have become a key focus for investors engaging with companies on climate through Climate Action 100+. The global initiatives' key lead investors will give insights on their priorities in company transition plans, how they assessed these plans in the 2022 proxy season, and what's coming next.

Plenary: The Coalition for Climate Resilient Investment

Launched at the UN General Assembly's Climate Action Summit in 2019, and joined by the Australian Government in 2021, the CCRI is a private sector led flagship COP26 initiative, aimed at advancing solutions for the integration of physical climate risk into investment decision-making. Hear from the lead convenor and key participants in the CCRI on the initiative and its tools for investors and governments.
